THE HONOURABLE
JEAN AUGUSTINE

My Friends,

On this fond occasion, I must reflect on the blessing of so many good people present, past, near and far who have played a role in making my life such an incredible journey so far. Dr. King once said that, "...the quality, not the longevity of one's life is what is important". I have seen and experienced much. Yes, there have been twists and turns. But, the good days far outnumber the not-so-good ones. For that, I give thanks.

Of course, wisdom is shaped by so many good lessons. Take risks. Leave your comfort zone, Dance to your own tune, not just follow; stop and smell the roses often; celebrate and support community; treasure time with family, friends and colleagues; share credit and honors with supporters and teammates; be thankful always; express gratitude; share love with hugs and smiles. More importantly, remember the adage, "Opportunity dances with those already on the dance floor". My path was brightly lit by the early understanding that anything could be achieved with a balanced dose of goal setting, self-belief, work-ethic and perhaps most importantly, the will to take action.

The fact is that aspiration alone is not sufficient. But when aligned with a purpose-driven work ethic – hopefully one greater than just material pursuit – all is possible. For me, it has been social justice – and an abiding commitment to do whatever I can to make a positive difference in the human condition... wherever and however I could. This still drives me today.

I cherish memories formed alongside family, friends and supporters over the years; and equally humbled by expressions of appreciation, both personal and public. Amongst those honours, I am especially grateful that this 80th birthday celebration brings us that much closer to full-endowment of the Chair in Education, Community and the Diaspora at York University – the only one of its kind in Canada; and one that can ensure that the important work of research, data collection and community education will continue to be a benefit in this country for many, many generations to come.

Thank you for sharing the dream and for recognizing the goal. I cannot stop – even when those small internal voices try tempting me to just put my feet up and enjoy a well-earned breather. Maybe one day... but now, just too inspired to stop. Here's to the big 8-0!

Hopefully, I have inspired a few along the way.

Jean

SONG LYRICS

What a Wonderful World

I see trees of green, red roses too
I see them bloom for me and you
And I think to myself what a wonderful world

I see skies of blue and clouds of white
The bright blessed day, the dark sacred night
And I think to myself what a wonderful world

The colors of the rainbow so pretty in the sky
Are also on the faces of people going by
I see friends shaking hands saying how do you do
They're really saying I love you

I hear babies crying, I watch them grow
They'll learn much more than I'll never know
And I think to myself what a wonderful world
Yes I think to myself what a wonderful world

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER

September 10, 2017

On behalf of the Government of Ontario, I am delighted to extend warm greetings to everyone attending the 80th birthday celebration of the Honourable Dr. JEan Augustine, PC, CM, CBE - an event held in support of the Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora at York University.

It is an honour for me, on this very special occasion, to add to the many tributes being paid to Dr. Augustine - a pillar of the Black community, a highly respected Ontarian, and a great Canadian.

Today, Dr. Augustine's many admirers gather to reflect on and draw inspiration from her outstanding achievements in a range of roles - as an educator, as a trailblazing social justice advocate, as the first Black woman elected to the House of Commons, as a federal cabinet minister, and as Ontario's first Fairness Commissioner. Her leadership and vision have helped strengthen our nation and make it a better place for all.

Jean: I wish you a joyous and memorable birthday celebration, and many happy returns of the day!

Kathleen Wynne
Premier

AMBASSADOR DERRICK JAMES
CONSUL GENERAL FOR GRENADA IN CANADA

I am pleased to extend birthday greetings and best wishes to the Honourable Dr. Jean Augustine, a trailblazer and role model to those who have met her, read about her and heard about her.

Grenadians, at home and abroad, take particular pride in the fact that they share the same birthplace as Dr. Augustine. We also are delighted that Dr. Augustine has been able to apply her talents to helping not just Grenadians but also the rest of humanity.

We are deeply impressed with her personal achievements-accomplished through much self-sacrifice-and also with the contribution she has made to her adopted homeland of Canada over the years. For example, Dr. Augustine is a well-known social justice advocate; philanthropist; public speaker; volunteer; champion for multiculturalism and the status of women; and also a politician. In the 1993 federal elections, she ran as part of former Prime Minister Jean Chretien's Liberal Party team Dr. Augustine won the riding of Etobicoke- Lakeshore, becoming the first African-Canadian woman to be elected to the House of Commons.

However, Dr. Augustine's first love is arguable education. Even today, her involvement in education continues, including serving as a memeber of the Dr.Keith Mitchell's Foundation in Grenada. It's also noteworthy that today is not only a celebration of the birthday of Dr. Augustine; it's also a fundraiser in support of the Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora at York University.

I want to command the organizers of this deserving tribute to Dr. Augustine, and for making it a truly memorable 80th birthday celebration for someone whose remarkable service to country and community is unmatched.

Dr. Augustine, happy 80th birthday from your fellow Grenadians, and May God continue to bless you! Best wishes and prayers that you would enjoy many, many more birthday celebrations.

Ambassador Derrick James
Consul General

THE HONOURABLE DR. JEAN AUGUSTINE
Biography

Jean Augustine's story is a testament to the power of hard work and devotion in pursuit of social justice. Born in St. George's, Grenada in 1937, Jean lost her father at a young age, but blossomed into an outstanding young student raised by a wise grandmother.

In 1960, already a qualified teacher, Jean immigrated to Canada through the Canada-Caribbean Domestic Program. With focus, she attended Toronto Teachers College and earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Toronto. Jean earned her Masters in Education degree while working as an elementary school teacher with the Metropolitan Separate School Board in Toronto. She would later become principal/supervisory officer while remaining deeply involved in grassroots efforts in the community.

Jean's contributions extended to many social causes. She was an active member on boards including York University Board of Trustees, The Hospital for Sick Children, the Donwood Institute, Harbourfront; and served as Chair of the Metropolitan Toronto Housing Authority. She was the National President of the Congress of Black Women of Canada. Her capacities were recognized by government leaders who requested her assistance when undertaking important initiatives -- the development and launch of Canada's official multiculturalism policy in 1971; member of the Ontario Judicial Council; the Toronto Crime Inquiry; and the training of teachers in Equity and Diversity.

In 1993, Jean Augustine made history. She became the first African Canadian woman elected to Canada's House of Commons. She served as the Member of Parliament for the Toronto-area riding of Etobicoke-Lakeshore, winning four consecutive elections until her retirement from politics in 2006. Jean's work as a parliamentarian included service as Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, Minister and Secretary of State for Multiculturalism and the Status of Women, Chair of the Foreign Affairs and International Trade Committee and Chair of the National Women's Caucus. In her final year, Jean was elected Deputy Speaker by her peers.

Amongst her notable achievements was legislation to protect low-income individuals including single mothers. Jean used skillful negotiation to garner unanimous support to pass a historic motion designating February as Black History Month in Canada. Jean also championed legislation to erect the Famous Five statue, the only statue featuring women on Parliament Hill. Jean donated her parliamentary papers to York University's Faculty of Education, thus creating the Jean Augustine Chair in Education in the New Urban Environment. This Chair supports research on issues related to education policy, immigration and cultural diversity.

In 2007, the Government of Ontario asked Jean to lead the commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the abolition of the British slave trade. Later that year, she was appointed the first Fairness Commissioner for the Province of Ontario. Jean set new regulatory standards for clarity, openness and streamlined access to employment conditions for foreign trained professionals. Jean served as Fairness Commissioner until her retirement in 2015.

In 2009, Jean was appointed as a Member of the Order of Canada for her extensive contribution to Canadian society as a politician, educator and advocate for social justice. She received the Queen's Diamond Jubilee Medal in 2012, and in 2014 was appointed Commander of the Order of the British Empire for her services to education and politics. She has been honoured by many organizations for her leadership and community involvement. In 2009, the Women's Executive Network named her as one of Canada's Most Powerful Women: Top 100 Awards winners. The Girls' Leadership Academy of the Toronto District School Board bears her name. She was awarded the Luminary Award by the University of the West Indies in 2006, and has received honorary Doctor of Laws degrees from the University of Toronto, Guelph University, McGill University, York University, the University of Windsor and Trent University.

Today, Jean remains involved with community activities including the Jean Augustine Centre for Young Women's Empowerment. She also supports several scholarships at various post-secondary institutions to help provide a better future for young women. Dr. Augustine is the mother of two daughters with two grandsons.

The Jean Augustine Chair in Education

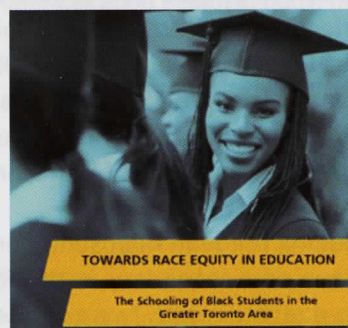

About the Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora:

The Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora in the Faculty of Education is a $3MM endowed Chair established by the Honourable Jean Augustine. (the first Black woman elected to the Parliament of Canada) with the donation of her archival and parliamentary materials including her parliamentary chair, robes and portrait from the House of Commons, photos, and commemorative items. She has also donated a collection of papers documenting her time as an elected representative, which are archived in order to allow students and scholars access for research purposes.

This Chair in the Faculty of Education will help educators engage as global citizens. Diverse classrooms present tremendous opportunities for new pedagogical thinking and approaches that will greatly enhance the ability of educators to teach in the new urban environment. Through teacher preparation, the Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora will set the stage for success for generations of Canadians to come.

The Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora is currently held by Dr. Carl James who was appointed in 2016, for a five year term. Dr. James is an appropriate fit for this key position because of his strong record in scholarship and community engagement that is well known in academia, across the GTA, throughout Canada and globally. As Chair, Dr. James will focus on addressing issues and concerns related to marginalized people within a framework of equity, inclusivity, and social justice.

Fundraising for the Jean Augustine Chair in Education, Community and Diaspora continues with $1.2 million remaining to be raised, and we welcome your support. The Chair funded by the community and for the community, with York University matching donated funds. To achieve this goal in the year that Canada celebrates its 150th birthday would be a tremendous and historical accomplishment. Your support is very much appreciated.

Phenomenal Woman

A Phenomenal woman,
That's me.

Now you understand
Just why my head's not bowed.
I don't shout or jump about
Or have to talk real loud.
When you see me passing
It ought to make you proud.

I say,

It's in the click of my heels,
The bend of my hair,
the palm of my hand,
The need of my care,
'Cause I'm a woman
Phenomenally.

Phenomenal woman,
That's me.
